RESUME SUMMARY

Iria Cabrera is a PhD. in Art, Production and Research. Graduated Cum Laude from the Polytechnic University of Valencia in 2022. Her topic's thesis is about the Czech stop motion animation cinema, deepened during a predoctoral stay at FAMU in Prague. The interest in animation arose from her studies in Fine Arts where she combined photography, sculpture and painting in stop motion animation projects. She directed the short film "Uroboros. Eterno Retorno"(2013), selected in national and international festivals. Professionally, she has worked in stop motion animation films in Spanish studios, such as in "Vicenta" (Sam Ortí, 2010), nominated for a Goya award.

Since 2016, she has been a tenured professor at the Escuela Superior Politécnica del Litoral in Ecuador, and was a visiting professor at UDLAP in Mexico. She has contributed to books such as "Harryhausen" and presented research at international conferences specializing in animation studies, such as CONFIA 2019 and the 31st SAS Annual Conference. She continues to research in stop motion animation, modeling and 3D animation, applying them in video game projects.
