RESUMEN

Jacqueline Mejía Luna is an outstanding professional with more than 30 years of experience in academia and management, having been a tenured professor at the Escuela Superior Politécnica del Litoral (ESPOL) since 1992. Her expertise encompasses educational innovation, software development, strategic management and university teaching, with special emphasis on 3D Modelling, Art and Science, where she has cultivated a deep understanding of the intersection between technology and creativity. Backed by multiple international degrees in areas such as business management and video game development, she has led innovative projects that promote the training of multidisciplinary professionals. She has also been recognised for her work in training trainers and has received awards such as the TRISKEL IFS AWARDS in the Broadcasting category in 2021. Her comprehensive approach, her passion for teaching and her constant professional updating position her as a benchmark in higher education, contributing significantly to the forefront of knowledge and innovation in academia.
